2015 By the Numbers

- More than 400 communities in 45 states pinned on the Attendance Action Map
- 182,300 website page views in September
- 4,400 listserv subscribers
- 1,351 media hits
- 8,800 tweets using #schooleveryday creating 15.7 million impressions
- 212 superintendents signed Call to Action appearing in EdWeek

2016 Campaign Goals

1. Expand the public's awareness of the importance of attendance particularly for our most vulnerable children with special attention to addressing barriers related physical and behavioral health;
2. Use data to drive and take action; and
3. Activate a wide array of stakeholders -- educators and likely and unlikely public agencies and community allies

What's New in 2016

- Greater emphasis on strategic messaging throughout the year with September as a launch activity.
- Leveraging Every Student, Every Day Initiative (including national success mentor initiative, June Summit, OCR data release)
- New momentum created by inclusion of chronic absence in ESSA
- Even greater emphasis on the chronic absence as a barrier to equal opportunity to learn, especially for our most vulnerable students.

What is Chronic Absence?

Chronic absence is missing so much school for any reason that a student is academically at risk. Attendance Works recommends defining it as missing 10% or more of school for any reason.

Chronic absence is different from truancy (unexcused absences only) or average daily attendance (how many students show up to school each day).

Multiple Measures of Attendance

Average Daily Attendance

How many students show up to school every day? The percent of enrolled students who attend school each day. It is used in some states for allocating funding.

Truancy

Who is missing school without permission? Typically refers only to unexcused absences. Each state has the authority to define truancy and when it triggers legal intervention.

Chronic Absence

Who is missing so much school they are academically at risk? Broadly means missing too much school for any reason -- excused, unexcused, etc. Researchers commonly define it as missing 10% of school. OCR currently defines it as missing 15 days and will be releasing a report in Spring 2016. Chronic absence is a required reporting metric in ESSA.

Average Daily Attendance (ADA) Can Mask Chronic Absence

90% and even 95% \neq A

Chronic Absence For 6 Elementary Schools in Oakland, CA with 95% ADA in 2012

Chronic Absence for 6 Schools in New York
City with 90% ADA in 2011-12

98% ADA = little chronic absence

95% ADA = don't know

93% ADA = significant chronic absence

Chronic Absence Vs. Truancy

Chronic Early Absence Connected to Poor Long- Term Academic Outcomes

Chronic absence in kindergarten

Lower levels of literacy in first grade

Lower achievement as far out as fifth grade

A Rhode Island Data Hub analysis found that compared to kindergartners who attend regularly, those chronically absent:

- Scored 20% lower in reading and math in later grades and gap grows
- 2X as likely to be retained in grade.
- 2X likely to be suspended by the end of 7th grade.
- Likely to continue being chronically absent

The Effects of Chronic Absence on Dropout Rates Are Cumulative

Proportion of Students Dropping Out by Number of Years the Student was Chronically Absent from 8th-12th Grades

How Can We Address Chronic Absence?

Unpack contributing factors to chronic absence

Myths

- Absences are only a problem if they are unexcused
- Sporadic versus consecutive absences aren't a problem
- Attendance only matters in the older grades

Barriers

- Lack of access to health or dental care
- Poor Transportation
- Trauma
- No safe path to school
- Homelessness

Aversion

- Child struggling academically or socially
- Bullying
- Ineffective school discipline
- Parents had negative school experience
- Undiagnosed disability

Disengagement

- Lack of engaging and relevant instruction
- No meaningful relationships with adults in school
- Vulnerable to being with peers out of school vs. in school
- Poor school climate

Invest in Prevention and Early Intervention

Key Messages

1. Good attendance helps children do well in school and eventually in the workplace.
2. Excused and unexcused absences quickly add up to too much time lost in the classroom, starting in kindergarten and even pre-k, especially for the most vulnerable populations.
3. Students are at risk academically if they miss 10 percent of the school year, or about 18 days.

Key Messages

4. Chronic absence, or missing 10 percent or more of the school year, does not just affect the students who miss school.
5. Educators and families need to monitor how many days each student misses school for any reason – excused, unexcused or suspensions – so we can intervene early.
6. Chronic absence is a problem we can solve when the whole community works with families and schools to create a tiered system of supports that starts with prevention.

Key Messages

- 7. Relationship building is fundamental to any strategy for improving student attendance.
- 8. Reducing chronic absence can help close the achievement gap.
- 9. Map and address the attendance gap.

Questions

1. Describe the PTHVP and why attendance has become an important topic for teachers to address with families?
2. How does PTHVP address attendance?
3. What have you learned about how teachers view absenteeism?
4. What have you learned about how parents understand or misunderstand the impact of absences on their hopes and dreams for their children?
5. What do you do to correct those misunderstandings?

Increasing Student Success One Visit At A Time

Parent/Teacher Home Visits

The concept behind the Parent/Teacher Home Visit Project non-profit is simple.

Teachers and families come together, in a unique setting, as equal partners, to build trust and form a relationship.

This strategy creates space for key partners to share dreams, expectations, experiences, and, eventually, tools to boost academic and social success.

IN THE PAST YEAR:

- *PTHVP trained 5,000 teachers.
- *We expanded to 400 participating schools in 19 states.
- *Together, we conducted 31,000 relational home visits.

Our Home Visit “Absolutes”

Teacher's View of Absenteeism (From a Parent's Perspective)

- It's the parent's responsibility
- If the student is not in their seat, the assumption is that the parents "don't care"
- I'm doing my part, why aren't they doing their part?

Impact of Absences on Hopes and Dreams

- In the first visit under our model, the family and the teachers discuss their hopes and dreams for the student
- Families don't often make the connection between their kids missing school and the impact it has on their hopes/dreams for their child

Home Visits Used to Address Misunderstandings

Visit 1

- Relationship Building
- Focus is on building trust and opening new lines of communication

Home Visits used to Address Misunderstandings

Visit 2

- Informational
- Focus is on academics and capacity building

Parent/Teacher Home Visit Outcomes:

- For Staff and Families:
 - Increased Trust and Empathy for Co-Educator
 - Increased Capacity To Better Engage Student in Academics
- For Students:
 - Increased student attendance rates
 - Increased academic success for students
 - Decreased suspension and expulsion rates
 - Decreased vandalism at school site

Gray Matter

OF the two winners of the Iowa caucuses, who's the better behavioral scientist, Ted Cruz or Hillary Clinton? To judge from their campaigns' respective "get out the vote" efforts, both politicians seem to have studied up on recent research in the field.

Let's start with Mr. Cruz. His campaign sent a mailer to the homes of Iowans pressuring them to show up to their caucus locations. The mailer noted "low expected voter turnout" in their area, gave them a grade for their past voting participation and disclosed the grades that the

ABSENCES MATTER AND YOU CAN HELP

Dear Parent/Guardian of Todd Rogers,

Todd has missed more school than his classmates.*

Todd has been absent 6 days this school year.

There are just a few weeks of school left.

Excused and unexcused absences affect Todd's learning.

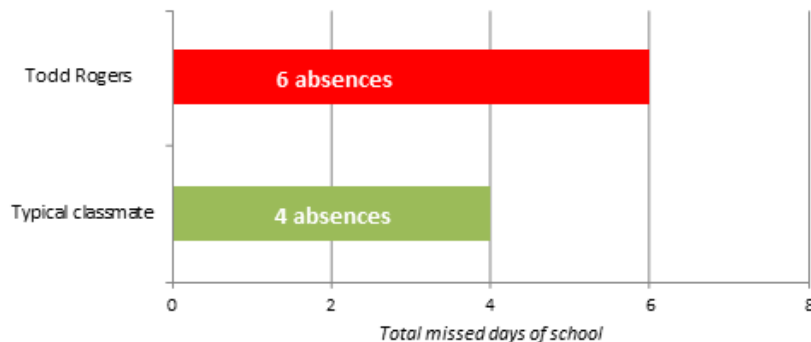

Thank you for continuing to help Todd attend school as much as possible.

Sincerely,

Doug Elmendorf

Positive Parent Messaging Toolkit (www.oag.ca.gov/truancy/toolkit)

With support and feedback from over 3 dozen agencies and organizations, we released a toolkit on how best to talk to parents about elementary school absences.

The Toolkit Is Based on Research Conducted in Partnership with the Ad Council

We sent communications experts to:

- Interview researchers, principals, teachers, district officials, etc.
- Conduct ethnographies in the homes of 24 families of chronically absent elementary school students.
- Survey over 850 parents whose children missed 10+ days in the previous year.

We wanted to learn about the causes of elementary school chronic absenteeism and the most effective messaging strategies for supporting parents.

There Are Many Reasons Why Kids Are Chronically Absent. One Is Parental Misunderstandings.

Reasons:

- Parent stressors
- Transportation issues
- School/neighborhood safety (e.g. bullying)
- Chronic illness (e.g. asthma)
- Sibling effect
- Parental misunderstandings

Examples of Misunderstandings:

- Early grades are not as important
- Students will catch up
- Only consecutive absences have a negative impact
- Absences are fine as long as the parents sign off
- Attendance is more about legal compliance

These misunderstandings have consequences.

Schools Inadvertently Reinforce Some Negative Behaviors

School Behaviors that...

Reinforce Attendance

Class rewards for good attendance (e.g. popcorn or ice cream parties)

Individual recognition for students with good attendance

Big motivators for kids, but not parents

Reinforce Absenteeism

- Impersonal letters
- Teachers send work home in response to absences
- Teachers do not address absenteeism issue with the parent
- Parents do not feel their child is safe in school
- High levels of absenteeism in the class

Reinforces parents' existing attitudes and behaviors toward absences

Impersonal Letters:

- Easy to disregard
- Many parents felt the school miscounted—but parents couldn't verify because they weren't tracking absences
- Many parents felt that the school didn't understand them

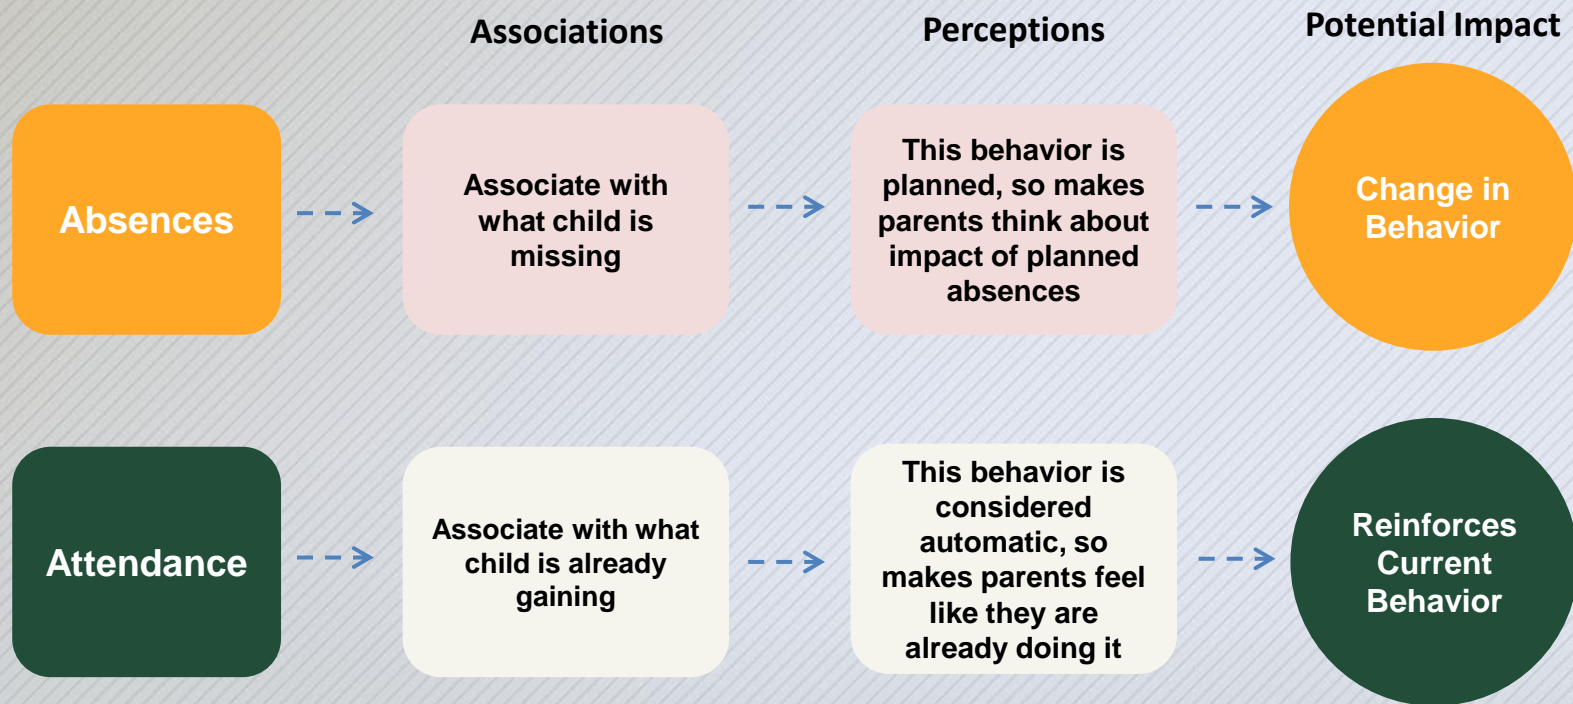

Sending Work Home:

- Parents thought that completing a makeup packet caught their child up for the missed day's work

Teachers Not Addressing Absenteeism:

- Most parents reported that they regularly communicate with their children's teacher, but never about absences

Messages About Absences Work Better than Messages About Attendance

When you say 'attendance,' parents think: my child attends school most of the time, so it's OK.

We Need to Address Misunderstandings and Reset Baselines

Example of a Misunderstanding

“My child can easily make up for a missed day by completing a homework packet or makeup assignment.”

How We Can Address

“There are some things learned in school that can’t be made up at home.”

Current Baseline

“Most of my child’s classmates are absent at least as much as my child (10+ days).”

How We Can Address

“Missing just 2 days per month puts your child on track to having far more absences than average.”

Get specific & connect the dots.

What's in the Toolkit

(www.oag.ca.gov/truancy/toolkit)

What's in the Toolkit:

- All of our research findings from both the qualitative and quantitative phases.
- 1-page tip sheets and other tools summarizing some of the most actionable findings.
- Strategy recommendations for districts and communities to develop their own communications strategies.

We now have professional messaging and communications research to inform our parent outreach and communications!

U.S. Department of Education

Questions

1. Why is the White House and the U.S. Department of Education so concerned about chronic absence? Why is it part of My Brother's Keeper?
2. How can communities leverage the attention that the White House brings to this issue as they plan for Attendance Awareness month?
3. What resources are available from the US DOE for messaging about attendance?

Helping Our Highest Needs Students By Reducing Chronic Absenteeism: The Role of National and Local Partnerships

The White House My Brother's Keeper (MBK) Initiative > Targets Chronic Absenteeism

- President Obama launched MBK to address persistent opportunity gaps faced by boys and young men of color – and ensure that all young people can reach their full potential.
- Chronic Absenteeism fuels the nation's opportunity gaps
- 5 to 7.5 million students are chronically absent each year
- Leads to devastating impact on academic performance, drop out rates, and college and career readiness – particularly in our highest need communities

The Landscape: Leveraging Resources

- U.S. Department of Education – Civil Rights Data Collection: first-ever release of national chronic absenteeism data, May/June 2016
- Launched Every Student, Every Day cross-agency campaign
- National Chronic Absenteeism Conference: Strengthening Cross-Sector Systems of Support for All Students
(Washington, D.C. June 8-10)
- National Ad Council awareness campaign – Absences Add Up
- Toolkit for Communities – cross-sector guidance on best practices – Education, Health, Justice, Housing
- MBK Success Mentors – leveraging existing resources and data, public-private partnership

Next Steps

- Cross-sector collaboration at a local level
- Use data and early warning systems to identify, act and monitor
- Public awareness – this is about achievement and success
- Leverage existing resources – Success Mentors, school partners, community resources
- Attend the National Conference on Chronic Absenteeism – and utilize the free resources available

Discussion

Questions

1. We often hear parents blamed for not getting their children to school. How do we avoid the blame game?
2. What advice would you give communities about starting an effective messaging campaign?
3. What else should communities consider in addition to messaging to reduce chronic absence?
